

10 Valley gardens to be open during tour Saturday

From the historic Boronda Adobe, now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Millard and used as a weekend retreat, to the 37 acre estate owned by Mr. and Mrs. Elwood H. Smith, the Carmel Valley Garden Association Tour slated for May 6 from 1-5 promises to cover an exciting and varied collection of landscaping.

Chairman Dr. Jacob Zarski announced that the tour of ten gardens will begin at Los Laureles Lodge, where luncheon reservations may be made, and end at the Rancho del Monte Resort, where free refreshments will be served and a plant booth available. Tour-takers are invited to remain for a no-host cocktail hour and to make up a dinner party at the Country Club Drive resort.

Tickets and maps for the tour, which is being held as a benefit for the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department, will be sold at each of the homes, as well as tickets for the drawing of the "gate prize," $100 worth of prize iris, donated by Clyde Hitchcock.

Donations are $1.00 per person.

Gardens opened for the spring event include: the Carmel Valley Road showplace of Mrs. F.G. Cruickshank, and the equally well known garden of

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton on Scarlett Road; the Millard adobe on Boronda; the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harwell Dyer with its interesting collection of conifers (one so rare that to date no one has been able to identify it); the rose collection of Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Zarski; the Smith estate, featuring a series of formal gardens with a Spanish influence; the home built by Allen Griffin in a secluded setting;

Extensive lawns and specimen shrubs at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crispo on Ring Lane; the neighboring home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Craig with its lovely patio garden; the home of Club president and Mrs. Irwin T. Johnson on Country Club Drive with its special night lighting effects and the handsome Oriental entry way.

Added to the tour has been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dickinson on Arboleda and Chapparal Road, which has an unsurpassed panorama of Carmel Valley.

With many regrets, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hitchcock have withdrawn from the tour due to the havoc wrought on budding prize-winning iris by the storm.

HEATHER GOLDEN (center) displays one of the posters done by Robert Skiles' art students at Tulareitos School to mark the gardens included in Saturday's Carmel Valley Garden Tour. The grounds of Club president, Irwin T. Johnson on Nido Way, will be among those open to the public. Mrs. Johnson and "Miss Julie" welcome the colorful marker which Heather and Mrs. George Clifford delivered. Hours of the tour are 1-5.

Trio of Broadway, TV stars to donate talent at CV Inn

TIM HERBERT

3 stars to highlite grand opening of rebuilt CV Inn in White Oaks' benefit

A trio of stars will be the featured entertainment at the grand re-opening of Carmel Valley Inn this Saturday evening.

Broadway, Palladium and TV stars will donate their talent to benefit White Oaks Theatre.

MCing the show will be Jack Collins, featured star of the TV series, "Occasional Wife," a performer on a variety of other top TV shows and a Broadway headliner.

Lynn Brinker and Tim Herbert, both frequent performers on major TV and Broadway shows, will also be on hand in person to entertain.

Their performances will start at 8:30, following a buffet at 7:30 in the spacious new dining room of the Inn. A no-host cocktail party will begin at 6.

Tickets at $5.00 are available at the Inn, phone 659-2261, or at White Oaks Theatre, 659-2248.

John and Graeme Harrison, operators of Carmel Valley Inn, declared they are delighted that some of their friends in the entertainment world had volunteered to help launch the handsome new Inn, which has been rebuilt after the fire six months ago.

Appearing for White Oaks Theatre will be Linda Bobblit, well-known actress from the local company.

In addition to appearances in more than 650 network TV shows, Collins has played on Broadway in "No Time for Sergeants," "Carousel," with Gertrude Lawrence in "Lady in the Dark," and with Olsen and Johnson in "Hellzapoppin'." He first appeared in New York with Milton Berle in the "Ziegfeld Follies" in 1943.

A veteran of many musicals, Lynn Brinker played opposite Tony Perkins in "Damn Yankees" and later in the same part with Van Johnson. In dramatic parts, she played Stella to Geraldine Page's Blanche in "Streetcar Named Desire" and opposite Russell Nye in "Tunnel of Love."

Herbert made his name in Palladium performances in London and has varied major Broadway and TV roles.

New CV Inn is handsome and modern without losing charm

Rebuilt Carmel Valley Inn is modernized and handsome, without sacrificing its informal charm.

The building follows the foundation of the old one, but utilizes the interior space more effectively. There is more glass, to take advantage of the magnificent site and views of the mountains. The dining room features semi-circular glass walls and a lowered ceiling.

Added to the dining room is a spacious area, which can be separated from it by a folding wall, to make one or several conference rooms. A pleasant carpet adds to the luxury of the dining room and bar.

The bar is more spacious than the old one and has been moved just off the lobby close to the dining room. From the bar, the pool can be seen across the lawn or, in the other direction, a large fireplace at the end of the lobby.

The lobby features natural redwood on part of the walls and in the ceiling.

The up-to-the-minute kitchen boasts a unique floor of a new type of epoxi resin. Completely fire proof, it has attracted the interest of CV Fire Chief Chip Collins. He mentioned it to the Salinas fire chief, who came over to take an approving look himself

Dr. Noto returns to PlanCom with proposal for hospital

Dr. Joseph Noto's proposed convalescent hospital on Schulte Road comes before the Planning Commission again on Wednesday, May 10. The hearing is set for 1:40.

A hearing last month was continued in order to give a PlanCom committee time to study the requests in the revised application for a use permit.

In re-applying for the permit, Noto has asked for 160 rooms instead of the original 160 beds which were designated on the expired use permit.

The committee, consisting of Dr. Ed Marcucci, Keith Evans and Leon Stutzman, has had the new proposal under study since the March 29 PlanCom meeting and will make its recommendations on May 10.

Additional local business on the agenda includes design approvals for two dwellings on the coast. Victor Mayers of Big Sur is scheduled for 2:30 and Sal DeMercurio of Carmel Highlands is set for 2:35.

Little League fete

Opening Little League ceremonies and dedication of Carmel Valley's new Casey Field on Paso Hondo will start early, at 12:15 this Saturday afternoon at the field. See page A.

CC to meet on Wednesday

The Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce board of directors will meet on Wednesday, May 10, at Los Laureles Lodge. The noon luncheon is open to board members and any other interested persons.

President Ken Van Hagen has announced that this is the last chance to join the Chamber before the directory is compiled. Only Chamber members will be listed. For further information call Ken at 659-2283, or secretary Rae Black at 659-4253.

Dedication, open house Saturday of new Carmel police station, yard

Dedication of the Police Station and corporation yard will take place in Carmel on Saturday, May 6, at 11 a.m.

The Carmel High School choir and the Padre Band will entertain with several numbers during the ceremonies which will open with an invocation by Rev. Lloyd E. Johnston.

The Knights of Columbus, St. Xavier Council 5261, will be the color guard for the United States flag and the Boy Scouts of Troops 32, 86, and Cub Scout Pack 3 will be the color guard for the California flag. American Legion Post 512 from Carmel will raise the flag.

The pledge of allegiance will be led by the honorable Herbert Heron, former mayor in 1930-31 and 1938-39.

The cornerstone ceremony will be conducted by Senior Grand Warden Eugene S. Hopp, M.D., of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of California.

An address by Carmel Mayor Steve Grant will be followed by the benediction by Rev. Alex Bryans.

★ ★ ★ ★ Thanks to the many who helped

Thanks were expressed to the many who gave generously to help build Carmel Valley's new Little League field:

Ronald C. Nicholson surveyed the land; Mel L. Blevens, of the architectural firm of Holewinski-Blevens, Salinas, designed the plans for the park; Leo and Pat Berta did the rough grading and clearing of the big trees on the land; Richard Gayman operated his wheel tractor to finish cutting down the trees; John W. Rauber furnished a tractor and road grader, and Granite Construction Co. of Seaside furnished a truck to move Mr. Rauber's tractor from Upper Carmel Valley to the park and back;

Duke Hasselfeldt, of G & H Redwood Fence Co., Pacific Grove, assembled and put up and from the handsome new barbecue pit.

There are still a few openings for players. Boys interested in taking part may sign up at any time with Ken Van Hagen at the General Store.

the backstop and dug the holes for the fence posts; Frank Murphy, of M.J. Murphy Lumber Co., furnished materials at rock bottom prices, loaned a cement mixer when needed, and furnished a truck to move the snack bar building from the former playing field to its new location;

Mel Blevens, as commander of a SeaBee unit, arranged for the SeaBees to put in three days of hard work making the cement pads for the stands, setting up the fence posts, and giving the finish grading to the field; Walt Mauzey brought his spray equipment and applied two coats of paint to the fence, making an attractive background for the advertising to be painted on the panels; Bob Kvenild, of the Village House, secured the donation of grass seed from Ferry-Morse Seed Co. and seeded the outfield himself.

EDITORIAL

Voices of authority on drugs

Two voices of authority spoke to student assemblies at Carmel High last week with quiet but resounding conviction against marijuana and LSD.

Of all the rash of articles and programs on the hazards of drugs, the talks of Rev. Lawrence Farrell, Catholic chaplain at Soledad prison, and Dr. Friedy Heisler, Carmel psychiatrist, succeeded best in making true believers on the dangers of dope.

Father Farrell, who was formerly at Carmel Mission, read a variety of short autobiographies written by some of the convicts with whom he works at Soledad. They were stories of tragedy, which often began with experimentation with drugs, leading to violence and prison.

Their sentiments of penitence and hopes that they will somehow get on the right road when they regain freedom were touching. The moral of the stories to the student audience was loud and clear, although it was hard to imagine the reality of these stories out of Soledad. The very fact that kindly Father Farrell, a big burly man with a beard, spoke so personally of these men who are convicts carried conviction.

Mrs. Heisler's talk, while somewhat less dramatic, was no less authoritative that dope is too dangerous to tamper with.

"Those in hospitals and prisons from drug use are not really bad people," she commented. "They didn't mean to get it—but most of them will be back in after they are free for a short time."

She added that these unfortunate people think of themselves as intellectually, socially or sexually inferior and they usually tried drugs in an effort to gain identity. "But there is no chemical solution to their problems," she declared.

Realizing the fluctuations of mood of adolescents, Dr. Heisler said that marijuana doesn't help a person to experience truth. Because it reduces capacity to judge time and speed, it is the cause of many accidents.

Marijuana is also often a stepping stone to LSD, "a much more serious, dangerous drug," she said. "Its users are wishful thinkers—looking for magic."

LSD has put many persons who "just wanted to try it once" in hospitals and psychiatric wards, she revealed. Breakdowns, the psychiatrist pointed out, can come as late as eight months to a year after taking the drug.

And the tragedy is that experts don't know how to treat LSD victims; they are not responding to usual treatment for schizophrenia, the grim split-personality mental disease which it somewhat resembles.

Dr. Heisler emphatically said that the contentions of LSD users that it gains them more insight and makes them more creative are "absolutely fallacious; it's a delusion and wishful thinking."

"Ninety-nine per cent are suffering from loneliness from a feeling of not belonging. They can't find their niche in society." Drugs, which wipe out ability to determine reality from fancy, are no substitute for facing life's problems, she said.

Benzedrine is also particularly dangerous because it can produce brain damage, Mrs. Heisler explained. Such drugs, known as energizers, can cause permanent destruction to the nervous system. The highest death rate from drugs is produced by those who take sedatives after energizers, she added.

Dr. Heisler told about an international conference of psychiatrists she attended seven years ago in Toronto at which a panelist who had experimented with LSD pleaded that it be left alone. He had spent nearly a year in an institution as a result and was still suffering hellish effects.

In response to a question, she declared that the only constructive uses of LSD known so far are in "treating acute alcoholics and helping terminal cancer cases die with more dignity."

The message from both authorities was impressive and frightening.

The school deserves commendation for tackling the problem head-on, firmly and constructively.

PERSPECTIVE

The Doctor says:

SCIATICA

(Write or phone your health questions to Dr. James Short, 103 Robles del Rio, Carmel Valley; telephone 659-4223.)

A reader states that her husband has "sciatica." For a number of years he has had pain down the back of the left thigh and leg to the heel.

The chronicity, localization, severity and distribution suggest strongly that this is indeed a case of sciatic neuritis or "sciatica." It can be almost crippling in severe cases, since the sciatic nerve—the longest in the body—carries both motor and sensory fibers. Partial paralysis and even atrophy of certain muscles may result from damage to it.

Although sciatic neuritis may be due to a variety of causes—tumor, diabetes, vitamin deficiencies, etc.—the cause in about 90% of the cases is found in the lower (lumbar) spine and is most frequently due to a damaged or ruptured intervertebral disk.

Disks are elastic structures located between the bodies of the vertebrae and take up much of the shock of weight bearing, like shock absorbers on your car. They are interesting bodies and make up about one fourth of the total length of the spinal column. Composed of fibro-elastic substance (gristle) they contain in their centers an elastic semi-fluid substance (the nucleus pulposus) which occasionally ruptures and spills out into the spinal canal.

This is often referred to as a ruptured or herniated disk. When this happens, pressure may be placed upon a nerve root and cause pain which may be acute at first and later become chronic.

This accident may be due to some violent trauma or injury perhaps caused by an auto accident, but more commonly in older people it may be the result of heavy lifting or a sudden jolt or other strain. Often the sufferer from sciatica may not be aware of any incident at onset.

Diagnosis depends on history, a thorough physical examination, and X-rays. Impaired mobility of the limb on testing and the loss of certain reflexes (especially that of the Achilles tendon) are characteristic. X-rays will rule out tumors and the use of an opaque substance in the spinal canal may reveal the exact site of the lesion on the X-ray films.

If the diagnosis of disk lesion is made, the treatment of choice is surgery by an orthopedist or neurosurgeon. Complete relief of the nagging pain is the rule.

April 10—A school bus driver reported two fire extinguishers stolen from Our Lady of Mt. Carmel bus over weekend. $30 value.

April 15—A resident of Lupin Lane reported burglary during afternoon while his wife was at beauty salon. Entry was through an unlocked front door.

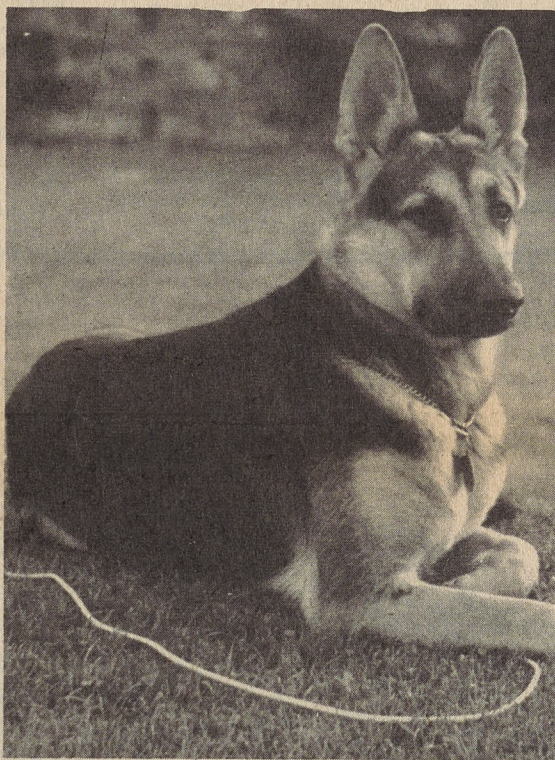

April 18—Isobel Higgins of White Oaks Coffee Shop reported that about 4 a.m. she had returned home from coffee shop with day's receipts in purse—$275 cash and $35 in checks. She was resting on sofa when she heard a knock on window.

It was a young man who gave a false name and said that he had loaned his watch to another young man who had been staying at her house and he wanted it back. It was supposed to be in dresser drawer. Former resident wasn't there so the one at the window asked her to look in dresser drawer. Watch not found, but when she returned the purse was gone.

On April 19 she phoned back and said a resident of Country Club Drive called and said he had found her purse without cash near his house.

IN SHORT

DURING PUBLIC SCHOOLS week, the Kiwanis Club of Carmel Valley toured Tularecito School. Students had been told that there would be visitors to their classes.

One of the teachers in a lower grade said, "Now class, who are our visitors going to be?"

A little boy piped up with "Ku Klux Klan?"

In a fourth grade class, the same question was asked. One little girl raised her hand and volunteered, "Tijuana Brass?"

A wide diversity of reactions to the word Kiwanis.

ORLEY MAE WHITE, a freshman at UC-Davis, has started the spring horse season with a bang at the Davis Picnic Day Horse Show. She entered three events and scored in each; second in western pleasure, second in trail horse and fourth in western equitation. Twelve colleges were invited to participate in the Picnic Day.

KAY McCOMBS of Carmel High won a $25 prize for placing third in the annual Bank of America Achievement Award program. She was a fine arts entry. Winners in the zone competition were selected on the basis of scholastic records, participation in school and community activities and interviews before a panel of civic leaders.

Uses of hypnosis

(This is the third installment on hypnosis and its medical use, written for The Outlook by Carmel Valley resident, Leslie M. LeCron, a state certified psychologist. Author of seven books on hypnosis, he has staged 92 different symposiums on the subject for professional people, chiefly doctors and dentists.)

What benefits does hypnosis offer patients and the professional man?

Psychotherapy, the treatment of emotional and psychological conditions, is usually long drawn-out, with many sessions and much expense involved. Here hypnosis offers a great shortcut, as it enables the practitioner to deal directly with the subconscious part of the mind, where such difficulties are centered.

With hypnotherapy the time required for treatment is greatly lessened. Sometimes only two or three sessions will bring results, though often more are necessary.

In obstetrics, it is usual for anesthetic drugs to be employed. Under hypnosis drugs are not needed. It has been found that about one woman in four can be delivered with little or no pain. About half will have some pain, but it is bearable. With one out of four, some drugs must be employed.

The advantage to the woman having a baby is obvious, but the greatest benefit is to the child. Drugs not only affect the mother, but the child is also drugged.

When the mother is under hypnosis, babies do not need to have the first breath stimulated. They are healthier, cry less, and eat better.

Still another use in obstetrics is to stimulate the mother's milk by hypnotic suggestion if it is not copious enough, or it may be caused to dry up quickly if she does not want to nurse the baby herself.

Probably the greatest use of hypnosis is in treating psychosomatic ailments—those which are physical in nature, but emotionally caused. This involves most illnesses, even some which are infectious, for emotional problems can render one more susceptible to infectious disease.

Crocker-Citizens National Bank will hold a public open house from 2 to 5 p.m. this Saturday at its new office in the Carmel Valley Shopping Center at Mid-Valley.

Regular banking business will be conducted for the first time in the new quarters beginning at 10 a.m. Monday.

The open house will begin following a special "unlocking" ceremony, complete with a giant replica of an antique Spanish lock and key, and will conclude with a public drawing to determine the winners of ten prizes consisting of savings accounts with initial balances.

The first prize—a balance of $111.11—represents the amount of interest that would be earned for one day on a million dollars at a yearly rate of four per cent. Nine other prizes will be savings accounts with balances representing the interest that would be earned for one day on amounts ranging from $500,000 to $100,000 at the same yearly rate.

Refreshments will be served and souvenir gifts for adults and children will be distributed.

Those attending the open house will be greeted by Ramona Weer, manager; Donald Seefeldt, assistant manager; and staff members Sherry Anderson, Ginnie Bosso, Gloria Lipp and Bernice Pool; and by officials from Crocker-Citizens administrative headquarters in San Francisco and from nearby Crocker-Citizens offices.

DONALD SEEFELDT

Officers boast long experience

The two officers named to head Crocker-Citizens National Bank's Carmel Valley office bring years of banking experience to their new positions.

They are Ramona Weer, manager and Donald Seefeldt, assistant manager. Mrs. Weer is the wife of Lloyd Weer, who recently retired as Pacific Gas and Electric Company manager for the area.

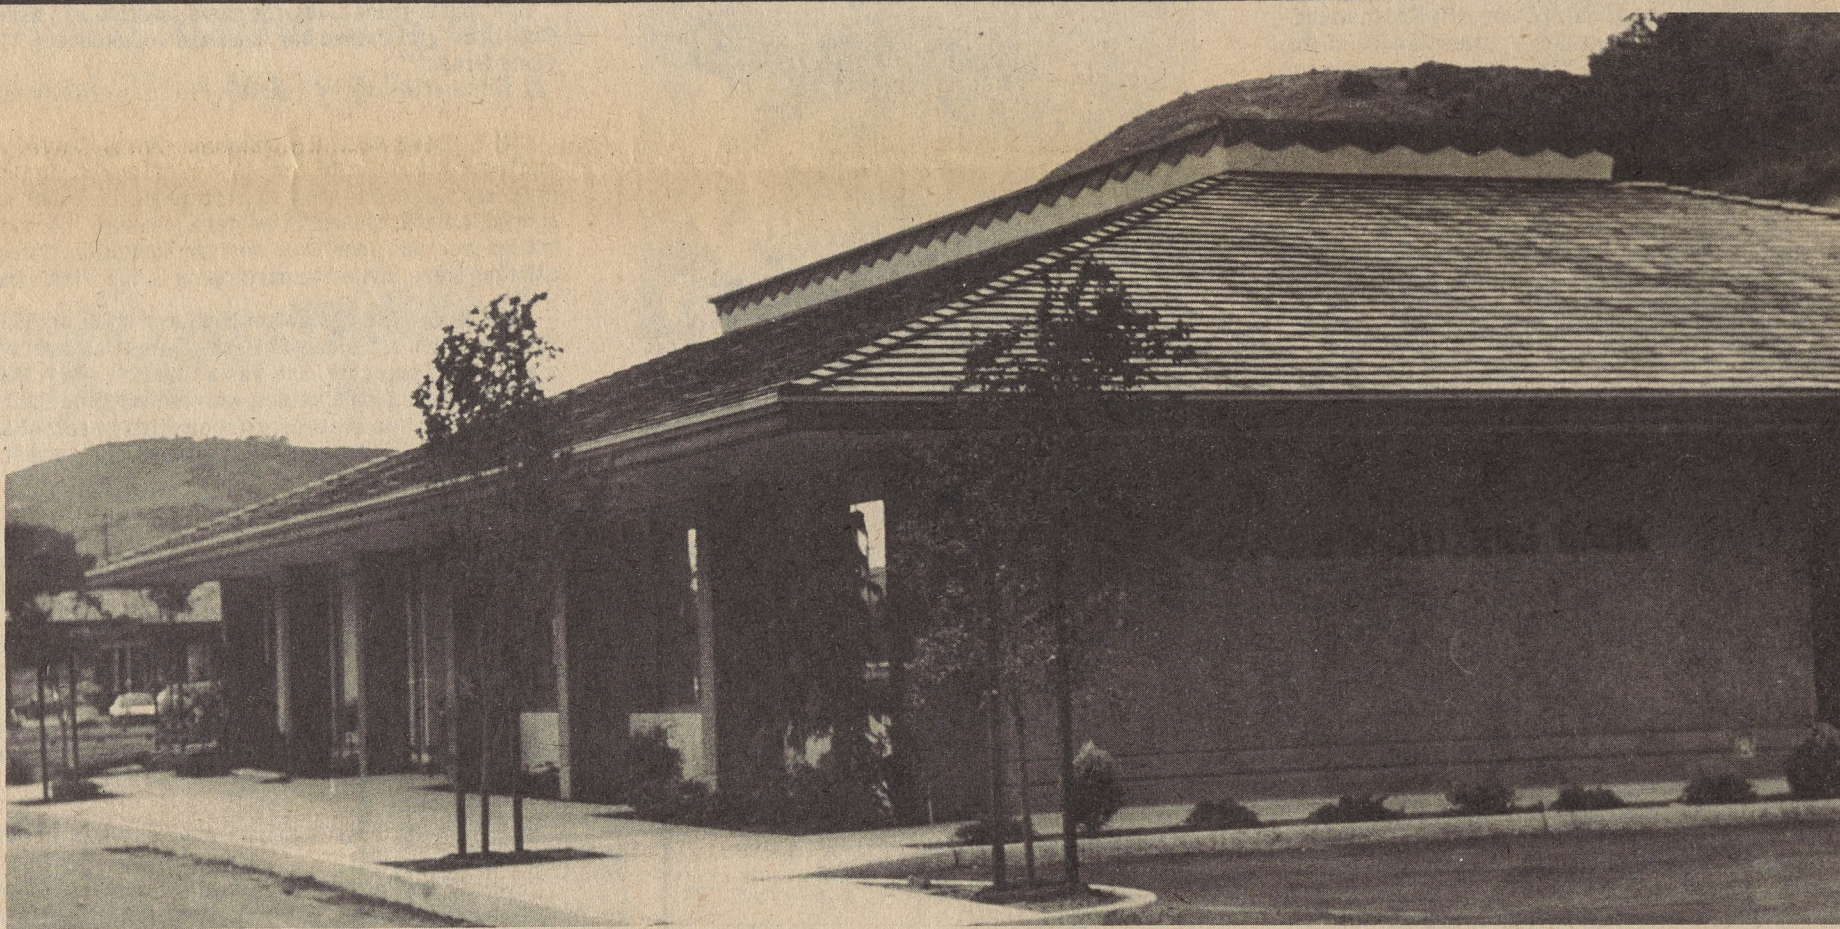

Mrs. Weer, who holds the distinction of being the first woman named to head a Crocker-Citizens banking office, began her California banking career in 1948 with the Bank of Carmel, which became a part of what is now the Crocker-Citizens system in 1959.

She was an officer at Crocker-Citizens Carmel office for many years and most recently was operations officer there.

Seefeldt joined Crocker-Citizens in 1959 following 13 years of banking and business experience in Colusa. He was named operations officer at the bank's Salinas office in 1961 and was promoted to assistant manager there two years later.

The bank's Carmel Valley office will be its seventh in Monterey County and its 268th in California.

Troop #127

Joe Bottaro, Dennis Longfellow and Manuel Mancebo were honored at the April 17 meeting of Troop #127. Each was given a Swiss Army knife in recognition of having made the most advancement in the troop during the final six months of 1966.

The troop continues to grow as Matt Wesley was taken in as a Tenderfoot and Scott McGowan was accepted as a transfer 2nd Class Scout from Alabama.

Lt. Cmdr. Tucker spoke to the troop and showed 16 mm. film of training on board an aircraft carrier. Each meeting seems to be busy and important and this was no exception.

The main gallery room of the new photography center in Sunset Center in Carmel is nearing completion and a second room for the photography center is being cleared by the library in preparation for its development into the photography center.

Led by Ansel Adams as president, Friends of Photography is a non-profit organization sponsoring the center, which promises to become for the west coast what famed Eastman House is for the east.

The new photography center here is scheduled to open early in June.

Beaumont Newhall, curator of Eastman House in Rochester, N.Y., who is assisting in launching the Carmel center, has called the developing plans here "the most important thing in the field in 20 years," according to Manager Cole Weston of Sunset Center.

The photography center is occupying the two rooms of the northwest wing of the building, on San Carlos near Eighth.

Nearing completion is the public gallery room. Eighteen spacious display panels of plywood have just been erected on the walls, plus four large ones hanging from the ceiling, to permit photo displays on two sides. They will be covered with cork.

In addition, two other display panels are being built to be seen from the outside through plate glass windows. One will be on the San Carlos Ave. side, the other on the end of the wing, visible to strollers about the Center.

Re-wiring is the next step. The latest type of "track wiring" is to be installed. It is unusually versatile, permitting outlets and lights anywhere, Weston explained.

The gallery room will be open to the public and a variety of national and international traveling exhibits will be displayed.

The second, larger room behind, now used by the library, will be remodeled into a studio and area for permanent photo collections. It will be used by members and other with special projects.

OUTLOOK ON CARMEL

CARMEL VALLEY OUTLOOK

Replacement scores in "Toreador"

To step into a major role with less than a week's notice is, in any case, a tremendous undertaking. To take over the role of General St. Pe, in "Waltz of the Toreadors" in that length of time seems almost impossible. But Robert Heater did it and not only that, he did it well!

Coming to the fore, as he has done on another occasion, Heater took the role that had been played by Dr. Clancy Van Horn on opening night a week ago. An automobile accident on the way home from the first night show put Clancy in the hospital, and the Circle Theatre without a star.

Heater is an accomplished actor with no small amount of experience, and it would take just this to put the subtle shades of meaning and comedy into the demanding role.

Gertrude Chappell, a veteran trouper of many a Circle Theatre production, was the nasty, vicious, pathetic and shrewish wife as only Gertrude could play her. For the major portion of the show, the wife is quietly lying in bed... on stage... a self-imposed invalid to punish her philandering husband for chasing fillies. This in itself is not an easy thing to do.

Gaston, the timid and meek secretary of the general, played by Edward Parks, looks and speaks like a naive young man who has not yet discovered why he is here. As the play unfolds, he turns on like a lily coming into blossom.

Mme. de Ste.-Euverte (played by Barbara Kendall), who has waited 17 pure years, in the belief that the General's love will conquer all, is the reason for young Gaston's transformation.

Irving Rogers plays a wise and sympathetic friend in the role of Dr. Bonfant.

The two adolescent daughters of the General and his wife provide delightful comic breaks throughout the production. Played by Ruth Fry and Wendy Thaler, they are suitably exuberant, pouting, and funny.

Betty Root is a delightful dressmaker, Mme. Dupont-Fredaine, and Jim Goffard as Father Ambrose, plays a stock character with well done humor.

Even in the smaller parts of the maids, each is an individual in herself.

It takes real professional know-how to pull a show together in such a short time and have a polished performance. Director Norman McPhee deserves high praise for his competent direction. —GD

Serving 2nd term

Councilman Norberg stresses cultural activity

GUNNAR NORBERG

Although sometimes it may seem so, Gunnar Norberg told us he really doesn't always vote "no." As a Carmel City Councilman, he tries to have a constructive approach, particularly on things cultural. He DOES feel that councils in the past have not done as much as they could in re-activating the cultural life of Carmel.

Gunnar is serving his second term on the Council, having first been a member from 1958-62. At that time he was responsible for establishing two commissions which he feels are of utmost importance to Carmel-by-the-Sea.

"Most cities plant trees, but there is no other city which chooses to live in a forest," he stated. Because of that, Gunnar helped establish the Carmel Forestry Commission in 1958-

59... and Carmel became a celebrity for not allowing residents or the city to cut down trees without permission.

Even when Gunnar was a magazine editor in New York City, prior to 1940 when he and his wife Barbara moved here, people knew of Carmel-by-the-Sea as a special entity. In the publishing business, at least, Carmel was known for its working, creative people... and of course many a book and play was born here.

The fact of Carmel's rich working culture was the point about which Gunnar became most adamant and in establishing the Arts Commission, during his first term as councilman, he hoped to begin a new concept in municipal support of the arts.

"I thought perhaps we could show that one city could do something in the arts which the electorate would support in the manner that wealthy families and nobility had done in the past," he commented.

He felt that there were tens of thousands of municipalities which could take over the job of subsidizing cultural activities... and what better place to start than Carmel which had such a rich heritage in fostering creativity.

The Carmel Arts Commission has now been merged with the Sunset Commission and has been renamed the Carmel Cultural Committee. With Cole Weston as manager of the Sunset Complex, including the Forest Theatre, Gunnar hopes that more support will be given to the theatre. One thing that had been planned by the commission was to establish awards for original plays and then put them into production at the Forest Theatre or Sunset. (In the "old days," 14 plays had world premieres in Carmel.)

The arts committee did establish the free Sunday afternoon programs in the outdoor theatre and Gunnar would like to see this continued with similar winter programs inside at Sunset to provide good music at no cost.

When Gunnar and Barbara first came to Carmel after vacationing here, Gunnar was advertising and publicity man for Ted Kuster's Golden Bough Playhouse. So, he began his association with Carmel theatre early in his residency. Shortly thereafter, he formed the Norberg Travel Service just in time to be stopped by Pearl Harbor. After his Army service, Gunnar returned to re-activate the travel service and again become active in Carmel affairs, where he continues to be a very vocal part of the community.

And this is the community which he feels should support the creative aspects of its city. Carmel did not just have committees of people who talked about art and theatre and writing, but doers of cultural deeds and Gunnar feels that it is a definite municipal, taxpayer, responsibility to support these achievements.

"Bay Day" will be Saturday

"Bay Day," the annual fund-raising event of the Carmel Parent Cooperative Nursery School, will be held on the grounds of Bay School on Saturday, May 6. The fair, entitled, "A Day at Pooh Corner," will begin at 11 and continue until 2 p.m.

Bay School, better known as "The Little Red School House," is two miles south of Carmel on Highway 1, at San Jose Creek. Under the eucalyptus trees, the parents' group will set up concessions and games of all kinds: the old fishin' hole, the popular Indian Trail, a chuck-wagon lunch, a general store rummage sale, donkey rides, a puppet show and a combo for teenage dancing.

The school, under the directorship of Rosa Doner, is run under the auspices of the CUSD and Adult School. Mrs. Russel Thomsen is president of the parent co-op group for the spring term. Mrs. Fred Nolan and Mrs. Don Canham are co-chairmen of Bay Day.

The eighth annual art auction will be held in the Mural Room of the Del Monte Lodge Sunday, May 7, to benefit Beacon House, the Monterey Peninsula's rehabilitation center for alcoholics.

Eve Tartar at Tantamount

The sculpture of Eve Tartar of Robles del Rio is the star attraction of the Green Room at the Tantamount Theatre for the month of May.

This is sculpture that takes the dramatic form of architectural bas relief. Mostly constructed of wood for wall installation, there are, however, examples for the more traditional pedestal display.

The exhibition features recent work which has just returned from an extensive show at the de Saisset Art Gallery at the University of Santa Clara.

The Tantamount management provides the Green Room as a showcase for Valley artists in one-man, month-long exhibition. All works shown are for sale, with the total price going to the artist. It is not a commercial gallery in the sense of commission sales.

Paintings, lithographs, and sculpture have been contributed by such noted local artists as Emile Norman, Margaret Ziegler, Donald Buby, Malcolm Moran, Wayne Dye, Mary Paxton, Elizabeth Maddox, Traylor Dunwoody, Robert Davey, Gerard Aken, and Jim Brown.

Co-chairmen are Dr. Donald Taugher and Mrs. Palmer T. Beaudette. Marjorie Allen will serve as technical director; William S. Griffith, treasurer; Jane Campbell, in charge of volunteers; Mrs. John Shephard, poster distribution; Miss Mimi Cleary, bid girls; Roger Fandel, auctioneer; and L.R. Bemis, publicity. Theil Hampton, president of the Beacon House board of directors, is also assisting in plans for the event.

There will be a lunch at 12 noon and the auction will begin at 2 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling 372-2334 or 372-7404. Tickets for the entire program, including lunch, are $3.50. Tickets for the auction are $1.50.

Those buying the $3.50 tickets will be reimbursed for the Del Monte Forest gate fee and they are reminded that they must pick up a refund receipt at the gate at the time that they enter the forest.

LEISURE TIMES

'Lovely War' is smash hit at MPC theatre

People were being turned away at MPC Little Theatre at what was to have been the last performance of "Oh, What a Lovely War" Saturday night.

It's a hit! And will be held over to play again this Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30.

A lively show, it's sometimes hilarious, often moving and its satire is ruefully timely. Although it examines the First World War, the war of their grandfathers, the 19- and 20-year-olds who play soldier in it are the age of warriors of all the wars of history, past, present and future. And they play with a sincerity that shines right out.

The War to End All Wars is far enough away to look at with dispassion. It's far enough away almost to forget the reasons why it came about (after all, King George V, the Kaiser and the Czar were first cousins, as the program notes point out). It happened long enough ago to look on both sides with compassion.

There are no stars in "Lovely War." The teamwork and timing of the 16 young people who are often on stage at the same time is remarkable. The players multiply by changing hats, adding a scarf, or grabbing a gun. They switch accents from Cockney to Kraut, Mayfair to Frenchy, not always authentically, but always effectively.

CONVINCING

We won't try too hard to single out special credits. Nick Hovick perhaps has the most to say and he is completely convincing in all his guises (we're not sure exactly how a Belgian accent should sound, but we're sure Nick is) and a couple of solos by Sam Mercurio are spine tingling: "Long, Long Trail" and "When This Lousy War Is Over" (set to "What a Friend We Have in Jesus").

The girls are given more chance to shine as individuals and soloists: Anita Whitaker, Terry Gardner and Katrin Ston-

Final concert dates changed for Monterey Co. Symphony

A change of dates for the final concerts of the season by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra was announced this week. Instead of May 8 and 9, the performances in the Salinas High School Auditorium and Carmel Sunset Auditorium will be May 15 and 16 at 8:30 p.m.

The program will feature the 90-voice Monterey Peninsula Choral Society conducted by John Gosling.

They will be heard in the Stravinsky-Bach Choral Variations and Symphony No. 9 in D Minor, Opus 125, by Beethoven.

Soloists include Marie Gibson, soprano, Claudine Carlson, mezzo-soprano, and Edward Jameson, tenor. Miss Gibson and Jameson participated in the March presentation of Handel's "Messiah" at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School. Miss Carlson was the star of the second concert of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra last December.

This will mark the end of the 1966-67 concert series. Season tickets for the 1967-68 program that opens on Oct. 23 are now available.

ey do very well with their opportunities in "Kitchy-Koo" (Anita), "Keep the Home Fires Burning" (Terry) and "Sister Susie's Sewing Shirts for Soldiers" (Kate).

But all the song parodies actually written by the soldiers during W.W.I. are well done. There are many good singers and they get a fine accompaniment by Grace Stock at the piano, with Steve Kendall on drums, and Phil Stock chiming in with his trumpet with exactly the right tinny jauntiness.

OLD PHOTOS

Many of the skits are played against a backdrop of actual newsreel war-time scenes and posters plus a moving caption of grim statistics flashed above the stage.

"Lovely War" is a show for everyone 14 and up because it is still going on and we're all involved whether we want to be or not.

MPC drama coach Morgan Stock directed and scenic and lighting designer Bob Evans and costume designer Jean Miller do wonders with a spare set and a few odds and ends.

Here are the other players who deserve all the applause they've been getting:

Kate Dalton, Arlene Turqueza, Coliste Leone, Richard Gardner, Ronald S. Guillemette, Jim Le Sage, Lex North, Michael Renyer, John Rousseau, Roderick Silbey and Rick Wolf.

Junior League and Community Theatre join forces to bring plays to the schools

Over 14,000 students in Monterey County Schools enjoyed the fall touring season for the Children's Theatre of the Community Theatre. The Junior League of the Monterey Peninsula sponsored the tours and in addition to financing the trips, provided two volunteer helpers to travel with each show.

Three casts made up of twenty talented and experienced youngsters presented "Hansel and Gretel" to 27 schools. They performed a total of 41 times.

The Children's Theatre, under the direction of Marcia Hovick has operated for seven years. Regular classes are held for the young students of the theatre and openings are filled on first-come, first-enrolled basis.

Over the past seven years, the young people have played to over 40,000 children, who enjoy seeing their favorite plays performed by children.

By maintaining the three casts, no student lost more than 4 days during the regular school term while traveling with the troupe. Members of the traveling group must maintain a high grade point average and have their school's permission to participate.

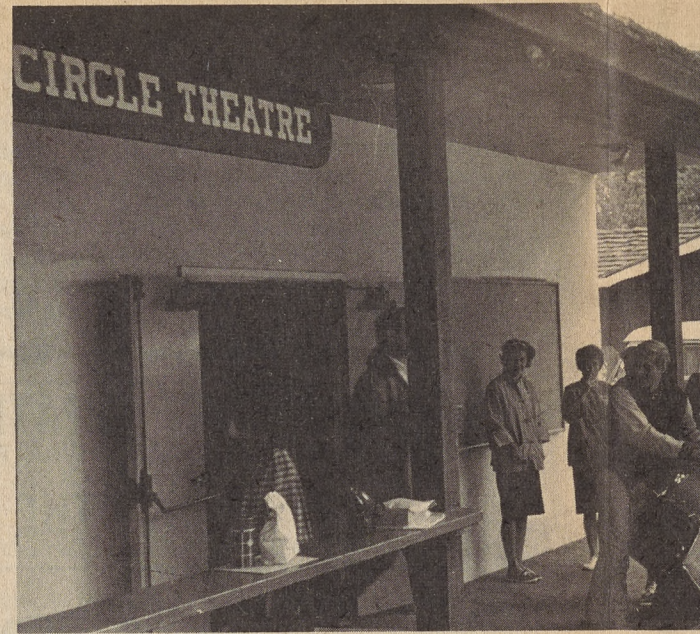

The spring classes will present "The Golden Goose" adapted from a fairy tale by M. Houck, which will also tour. In addition they will do an adaptation of "The Bremerton Musicians" and an original play entitled, "Early Snow," which will be performed at the Circle Theatre in Carmel.

WHEN THE SHOW is set up in the school auditorium a carpet is put down around which the youngsters sit to view the play. Characters in Hansel and Gretel walk through the audience as they portray their roles, bringing the production very close. That they can practically touch the actors is an exciting experience for many and makes the play a real adventure.

CATHY THALER, as Gretel, and Mark Shuler, as Hansel, fearful in a dramatic moment of the play. Rapt faces greeted this production. Performances were also given in Moss Landing, Salinas, and Peninsula and Carmel district schools.

SETS FOR THE JUNIOR LEAGUE-sponsored Children's Theatre since they must be transported in station wagon and private car. In the morning the crew is on hand to load things up and take off for four performances in the county.

MAKE-UP plays an important part in the fantasy of Children's Theatre... in this case particularly so, since the youngsters in the audience sit so close to the actors... on the floor at their feet.

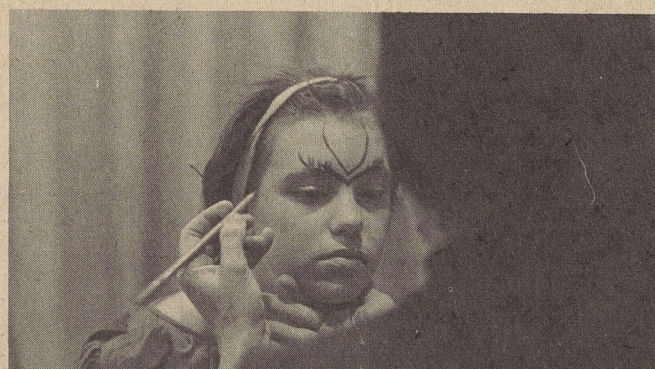

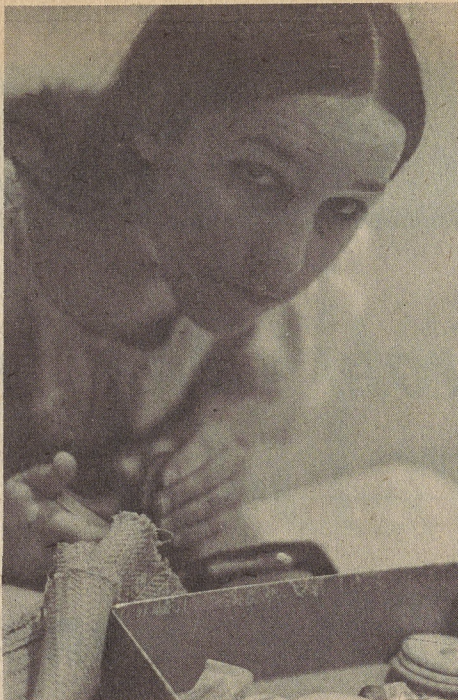

FAR RIGHT ABOVE—Director Marcia Hovick is assisted by Junior Leager helper Marian Slater in making up Katie Hovick for her role as step-mother.

LOWER FAR RIGHT—The final characterization of Gail shows her to be a most imaginative witch who brought squeals of anticipation and delight from the audience.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

A preview of the beautifully rebuilt Carmel Valley Inn was given guests attending the dinner party honoring the birthday of Mrs. Douglas Radford. Mr. and Mrs. John Dryden had planned the festivities last Thursday evening right down to the confectionary work of art, the pink birthday cake. Enjoying the resort all to themselves were the Drydens, the Radfords, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Todd, Mrs. Doris Anderson and Mr. Fred Merrill. The party moved to the Todds' home on Aliso after the dinner hour to toast the birthday celebrant with champagne.

A warm Valley welcome to new neighbors, Lt. and Mrs. Jim Walker, who have moved into the "home behind Guiseppe's on W.C.V. Road." Residents of Monterey for two years while Jim was enrolled at the Naval Postgraduate School, the Walkers decided to make the Valley a permanent base for the family, while Jim, presently awaiting orders, completes his assignment overseas.

Their three children, Sherrie 3, Seane 5, and Andy 2, help furnish the affection for their Doberman playmates who presently number TWELVE! The Dobe enthusiasts are affiliated with the local Dobe club and have shown their prize-winning stock locally and in the East. Their present litter of nine six-week-old puppies are all promising show stock with five already sold.

Fran returned last week from their home state, Indiana, where she was called by the illness of her father.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. William Isaacs of Del Rio Road who are proudly announcing the April 3 arrival of a baby girl. Their daughter, who weighed 6 pounds 15 ounces, has been named Jodi Leigh. Here to help for a week was Bill's mother, Mrs. V.A. Isaacs of Bakersfield. Her visit was a special treat for five-year-old Karlyn, who is a kindergarten student at Tularcitos.

The Ramos Camp Fire Girl Group, made up of fifth and sixth grade students at Tularcitos, made a field trip last Saturday afternoon to tour the wildflower exhibit at the Pacific Grove Museum. Accompanying the girls was their leader, Mrs. George Palmer, and Mrs. Frank Papineau.

"An old oak leaf cluster" to the students of the Art Department of Tularcitos and their instructor, Mr. Robert Skiles, for the valuable assistance given by them toward the Garden Tour to be held May 6. Into their busy schedules they included designing and making colorful placards with which to identify the gardens on the tour as well as the beginning point, which is Los Laureles Lodge and the tour's end, at Rancho Del Monte Resort. The C.V. Garden Association has presented them with a check for $12 with which they intend to purchase a selection of art prints to be displayed in the school library.

Proudly announcing the arrival of their fifth child, a son, are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cummings of Los Agrinemsors. The baby boy, as yet unnamed, weighed 8 pounds 4 ounces when he arrived at 5 a.m. April 26 at the Community Hospital. Welcomed by his sisters, Kim and Mary, and brothers Larry and Frank, the baby is the grandson of Don Cummings Sr. of the Valley and Mrs. Ann Luther of Nebraska.

Jean postponed her trip to the hospital one day to welcome home from Vietnam her brother, Capt. Charles Luther, who with his wife, Kathy, was enroute to visit her family in Washington.

Jumper dunked

Should any fisherman cast his line into the Carmel River and reel in an unusual catch, an Army parachute, DON'T notify the authorities (there was no one attached), call Lt. Warren Jackson, 659-4715 or 659-2468 and the wet silk will be gratefully reclaimed.

Warren was one of seven members of the Fort Ord Parachute Club who made the sky dive Saturday over Monterey Bay. This was the second water jump for Warren who holds the Sky Diver's highest "D" license, which requires both a night jump and one over a body of water. Saturday's event was arranged for one of the members who is working toward his D license.

All went according to plan;

the men jumped from 7200 feet near Fisherman's Wharf, observing the 32 second delayed fall from the exit of the craft to the opening of the chute. Following the jump, his first since breaking a leg last October in a jump at Balboa, Warren invited the crew to his Lower Circle home to wash their parachutes in the river. They tied them by lead lines to the patio, but somehow one of the lines snapped and the chute was lost.

GAYMAN GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gayman and sons, Brett and Tod, have had as their house guest Dick's cousin, Robert Albee, who recently completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C. The former Valleyite attended Carmel schools. The trainee has reported to Huntsville, Ala. where he will take his advanced training in missiles.

PRAYERS FOR SUN

Prayers offered during Sunday's services at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church for sunshine to help the farmers with their crops carried over to turn on the sunshine for the benefit bridge and canasta party sponsored monthly by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Church, held at the Flight Road home of Mrs. Phillip Walker. Mrs. Walker's collection of blooming orchid plants used about the rooms were admired by guests

Each table was presented with a prize with the afternoon high for bridge going to Mrs. Ruth Wade, the second high to Mrs. Dorothy Luke and the high in canasta going to Mrs. Gertrude Sanford.

Co-hostesses assisting during the afternoon were Mrs. Katherine Coleman and Mrs. Marion Townsend. The party next month will be held on May 24. Reservations may be phoned to Mrs. Walker, 659-2280.

BRIDGE WINNERS

A THREE WAY TIE for third place made duplicate bridge tournament history last Tuesday evening when it occurred during the evening of play by the Valley Bridge Club at the Community Center. The third place partnerships were made up of Mrs. Irene Baldwin and Mrs. Martha Vail, Mrs. Mae Evans and Mrs. Gertrude Bissett, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Gravelle. Once again in first place was the combination of Mrs. Ruth Angell and Mrs. Arno Hanel with second place honors won by Mrs. Rita Alm and Maurice Stoney.

CV LIONETTES

Mrs. Bob Hebert was hostess for the dinner meeting held Thursday evening at Los Laureles Lodge of the Carmel Valley Lionettes. The door prize was awarded to Mrs. William Hall. The cake served in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Leroy Dufur was baked and decorated by that talented chef, Mr. Bob Hebert!

Robert Gingery of the Narcotics and Drugs division of the Monterey County Sheriff's Dept. was introduced as guest speaker. The law enforcement veteran of six years described the types, effects, and symptoms of the various drugs, and cited examples of the "young people's cult of drugs" on the Peninsula.

Gingery attributed the tragedy of liberal thinking and social pressure as reasons that 50% of all present high school and MPC students in the area have either used a drug or had it directly introduced "The time for putting one's head in the sand is past," warned Gingery who pleaded with parents to establish better lines of communication with their teenagers.

BOB RAYS FETED

A representation of the many friends who wholeheartedly agree that the Bob Ray family are deserving of a special "good neighbor" award, arrived at their home on Paso Hondo last Tuesday evening for a surprise house warming. Joan, Bob and their children, Mary, Tim, Patrick and Rob, are reveling in the space afforded by their new home: a living room, dining room and kitchen (plus three new bedrooms upstairs and one downstairs), with the smaller quarters in which they lived for many years converted into family and laundry rooms.

They have contributed so many untold hours to Boy and Cub Scout activities, community, school, church and quietly assisting any individual in need, that the party was organized to help show appreciation by Mrs. Margaret Bennett and her co-hostesses Mrs. Tom Bottaro and Mrs. Michael Viljoen. The Ray children helped their mother 'pick the leaves from the money tree', while guests shared the potluck

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mayfield (Ed was contractor for the building), Miss Marjorie Ibsen, Dr. and Mrs. S.N. Trevino, Messrs. and Mmes. Ben Viljoen, A.M. Massaglia, Gordon Gay, Louis Gardner, Glen Lowe, Carl Naslund, Mrs. A.A. Collins and Mr. Tom Bottaro.

Sending gifts but unable to attend were Dr. and Mrs. Richard Kern, Dr. and Mrs. Howard McFann, Rev. and Mrs. James Brock, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Pepple, Mr. and Mrs. George Selvig, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Waylett, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hattan, Mrs. Mabel Love, Mrs. Norman Friddle, Miss Esther Trevino, and Mrs. Irene Baldwin.

Cookery Corner

Featuring the favorite recipes of local cooks.

Although one of the recipes below is well known to Chapel Guild party-goers, we are printing it this week because we think all our readers should know about it.

It is a heavenly dessert, aptly named "Moonbeams" and it comes to use from MRS. ELBERT WADE who brought it with her from Westwood, Calif. She also contributes two unusual salad recipes from the Southland.

The Wades have been Valley boosters since 1953 when they bought a lot during a holiday spent at Robles del Rio Lodge. They built their house in La Rancheria in 1966 when Mr. Wade retired as public accountant and Ruth sold her Westwood dress shop.

Currently, they are enjoying a visit from their daughter Barbara, an interior designer from Los Angeles, who plans to spend the summer here.

SOUFFLE SALAD

1. Dissolve 1 package lemon jello in 1 cup hot water. Add 1 to 2 T. vinegar or lemon juice and 1/2 cup mayonnaise. Blend well with rotary beater. Pour into freezer tray.

2. Quick chill until mixture is firm 1 inch from edge of tray and soft in center. Turn into bowl and whip til fluffy and creamy smooth.

3. Fold in 1 cup chopped watercress (Mrs. Wade whirled it in a blender, but it may be snipped fine with scissors) or spinach, 3/4 cup chive cottage cheese, 1/3 cup celery, diced fine. Pour into a large mold or 6 individual molds.

HOT SEAFOOD SALAD

1 can crabmeat 3 or 4 T. chopped bell pepper
1 can lobster or shrimp
1 cup chopped celery 2 T. chopped onion
1 cup mayonnaise salt and pepper to taste

Mix together and put in individual scallop shells. Cover with crushed potato chips. Bake 1/2 hour at 350.

MOONBEAMS

1 and 1/2 layers of sponge cake
(or 3/4 of a cake baked in a tube pan)
1 tall can evaporated milk 3/4 cup sugar
1 cup orange juice 2 T. grated orange rind
3 T. lemon juice 1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 envelope Knox gelatin (optional)
(softened in 3 teas. cold water)

Scald milk and add 1 teas. of gelatin mixture. Put in refrigerator until very chilled. Heat orange and lemon juice, adding sugar and remaining gelatin, orange rind and nuts. Chill until mixture starts to jell.

Whip chilled milk until thick and fluffy. Fold into partly congealed juice mixture.

Line cake pan with waxed paper. Spread a layer of cake crumbs in bottom and cover with a layer of filling, alternating until you have 4 layers of crumbs and 3 of filling. Chill for at least 12 hours. Frost with whipped cream if desired.

The Rhyming Philosopher

A home should be a secret place, secure,
An insulated, intimate retreat,
Removed from all the noises of the street,
But not too far away from life's allure.
The house itself may please the connoisseur
Of architecture, or may fail to meet
The standards of the neighborhood elite;
But this is home and this we know for sure.

Who cares what other people think they see,
We know there are no windows in the heart,
And no four walls can build a sacristy
For housing love when love's a thing apart.
A peasant shack's design may hold for me
Blessed peace, and make a mockery of art.

If you should search for where all discord breeds,
Look first within the gilded marble halls,
Where Croesus plans his awful gory deeds,
And not to those who tend the stable stalls.
Each humble worker has his normal needs,
But these are peace and freedom minus walls.

Carmel slated to win doubles in tennis finals

Carmel High is expected to win in doubles in the MT League tennis finals at Hollister Saturday.

Jim Buzaid and Gary Newton will probably come through with the doubles championship, while Jim Hinwood, who will represent Carmel in singles competition, may be up against Pacific Grove's Paul Sadone, the predicted winner in that category.

Leading 4 to 0, Carmel saw further competition at Gonzales last Friday postponed because of rain. Victors were Gary Newton, Jim Buzaid, Joe Ward and Jim Hinwood.

Gonzales comes to Carmel a week from today, Wednesday, when the match will be completed.

Middle School teams sweep P.G.

Carmel Middle School A and B ball teams swept Pacific Grove Saturday, the A's winning a thriller 9-8, the B's by 9-6.

Middle School faculty is scheduled to battle the students Friday. The A team is to play Carmel High frosh this week in hard ball.

Saturday the A and B squads will take on Los Arboles.

Coach Ralph Blumenthal named as the outstanding A players Saturday: Jim Conlan, short stop; Kevin Cunningham, 3rd; Hans Smith, 1st; Ward Gillette, center field, and Gregg Korver, 2nd.

Star of the B team was Albert Hood, who hit four triples.

3 to regional meet

Lightweight swimmers win 2nd

Carmel High lightweight swim team took second and the varsity 4th in the league finals at MPC Saturday. Live Oak swept top spot in both competitions.

Carmel's Bob Horn was far out in front in lightweight diving competition, scoring 245 points with 10 dives.

He and the DeAtley twins, Dave and Glenn, will be the Padre entries in a regional meet Saturday at Cabrillo College. Dave will swim breaststroke and Glenn both 50-yard freestyle and butterfly for the lightweight.

For the varsity Saturday, Bob Kutschbach sped in the butterfly and backstroke events, breaking his own records.

Carmel lightweight swimmers, with five wins and one loss, took second in the MT League; the varsity placed 6th.

Thinclads 12th in 30 schools at KC

Carmel High placed 12th among 30 schools competing Saturday in the King City invitational track meet.

The Padres today will participate in a track meet with Hollister and Palma.

First place in discus at the King City invitational was scored by Carmel Valley's Gary Kelley with a throw of 154 feet. Doug Updike, also of CV, scored 5th in pole vault, soaring some 11 feet.

Golfers defeat Hollister twice

Carmel High golf team defeated Hollister twice last week, once at the Pebble Beach course 10 to 5, once at Bolado Park, Hollister, 9 1/2 to 5 1/2.

Carmel plays Santa Cruz at Pebble Beach today.

The local team has won 2 matches to date, tied 1 and lost 1.

Carmel's No. 1 player, Kevin Sullivan, won by 3 points on the local course, but dropped a close match 2 to 1 there.

Joe Pistulka, Gregg True and Darryll Dawson swept both matches against Hollister. Bill Thompson tied at Hollister, but lost at Pebble Beach.

Varsity ball team wins

Coming from behind, Carmel High varsity baseball team took Hollister 7-5 Friday in a home game.

The Padre JV's lost 9-2.

In another league game, Carmel was scheduled to play Live Oak High yesterday. The teams play at San Lorenzo Valley Friday and host Gonzales next Tuesday.
